Poem of the Month.

A Song for Me

by Lenore Hetrick

September doesn't sing to me
A song of golden sheaves,
Or bright red sunsets on the hill,
Or dancing maple leaves.

September sings to me a song
Of lessons in a book.
I turn my back on scarlet leaves
With not a backward look.

September doesn't sing to me
A summons to the wood,
Nor does her song remind me that
The orchard fruit is good.

September sings to me a song
Of lessons I must learn.
Vacation days are over and
To new fields I must turn.
