Phonograms this week: p, r, s, y

Phonograms to review: a, c, d, g, f, o, s, qu, u, b, e, h, j, i, k, l, t

Phonogram test over - b, e, h, j, u, a, g

Poem “ #2 “ - Please study with your child. They will recite this poem next week.

Curve around and down

As all ears do.

Then add a line

To make a two.

Objectives for this week:

Spalding - Phonograms p, r, s, y. Work on counting sounds in a given word. Writing practice of phonograms. Also, I have asked the students to make their phonogram flash cards to study at home. These were given to you at Meet the teacher day. The packet had 2 DVD's and some colored phonogram cards and some white flash cards to cut and make. This will help your child learn to read and decode unknown words with ease.

Reading - Working on understanding that words are groups of letters in a specific order. Each letter has its own sound or sometimes sounds. We will work on how changing the first letter of a word can change its meaning - (cat, rat) / Word family concept or patterns and tracking from left to right. We will also start to read words off our Phonogram charts we make in class. These are words the students come up with that begin with the sound(phonogram) we are working on. We will start getting ready to write in our Spalding Notebooks. These are like Spelling notebooks.

Kindergarten News

Language Arts - Listening skills, following directions, noun identification, verb identification, and retelling a story with sequencing > first , next , then, and last We will continue working on learning the poem #2.

Science - We will be learning about how different animals have special body parts to survive.

Social Studies - We will continue working on classroom & playground rules. We will be learning about our country, flag and the pledge of allegiance.

Parent Information

Hello Parents,

We are going into the fifth week of school. Our Progress reports will come out soon.

I need your help!!!!

Please take out all papers on the "HOME" side of your child's blue folder > Review them with your child and keep them at home! :-)

Also, please make sure to sign return the homework slips each night.

The children need you to review their work and guide them on their homework. We need to start these study habits early so they will become independent learners. I am pleased with the improvements that I have already seen. Keep up the Great work!

Thank you,

Mrs. Kimball
